SOURCES OF USED AND DISCOUNTED PARTS

This is a list of sources of aircraft parts that has been compiled from the experiences of CPA staff and members and from information in various aviation trade publications. As many of these firms are salvage yards, it should be remembered that their stock varies, a place that has no Cessna parts now might have a great many a few months from now. Some of these dealers also stock or can obtain new Cessna parts and will sell them at a discount

Salvage yards normally sell used parts at between 30% and 50% of new list price, however, everything is negotiable.

This list was compiled for the exclusive use of CPA members. Listing of a firm herein should not be construed as any form of endorsement by the Cessna Pilots Association and CPA cannot guarantee the accuracy of the information of this list.

CPA members are asked to share with the Association their experiences, good or bad, with any of the firms on this list. The Association would appreciate hearing from members concerning firms that should be included on future editions of this list.

Your Association specifically asks that you contact the CPA advertisers first. They have shown their support of the CPA through their advertising and CPA members should give these advertisers the first chance at the business.

CPA Advertisers are noted by an * in front of their name.
